

Managed Transportation

Complex Challenges

Transportation leaders today are faced with wildly fluctuating fuel costs, driver shortages, increasing carrier costs, customer service demands and global supply chain complexities. They are also pressured with managing day-to-day transportation processes, usually without specialized staff or internal resources, as well as controlling or cutting related costs. It's no wonder that many companies grossly overspend on transportation and shipping expenses each year.

Simplified Solutions

At enVista, we take great pride in delivering managed transportation excellence within the context of our clients' key supply chain performance metrics. Our "best practice" transportation management services and leading-edge technology are designed to reduce unnecessary expenses and provide greater visibility to cost savings opportunities.

Working with our clients as a hands-on, experienced managed transportation services partner, we provide:

- Strategy and consulting expertise;
- Designing business processes and selecting/implementing transportation systems;
- Managing transportation operations for clients who find it more profitable to outsource their day-to-day transportation functions.

We practice as a managed transportation provider what we preach as transportation consultants. Our system works in conformance with the stringent criteria we adhere to as we guide clients through the 3PL selection process. In fact, our business model is specifically built on transparency of costs and direct carrier contracting rather than brokerage rate mark-up.

Our clients depend on our strategic plans that ensure the most appropriate carrier mix and rate efficiency for their managed transportation needs. If desired, they can also rely on our ability to skillfully execute those plans and designs for them.

Outsourcing transportation processes to a trusted provider offers an important opportunity to improve efficiencies, reduce costs, the ability to meter freight flows, enhance supply chain visibility and the chance to focus transportation teams more strategically.

Companies who partner with enVista enjoy best-of-class transportation services while remaining focused on their own core competencies and strategic opportunities.

Contact us today to learn more.

Customized Systems and Services for Managed Transportation

Daily Transportation Planning

- Receive purchase, sales, transfer & return orders and ready-to-ship information.
- Plan orders for all modes; select routing and carriers based on optimization and routing guides.
- Consider multi-pick, multi-drop, pooling, cross-docking, continuous moves and backhauls for greater efficiency and savings.

Execution

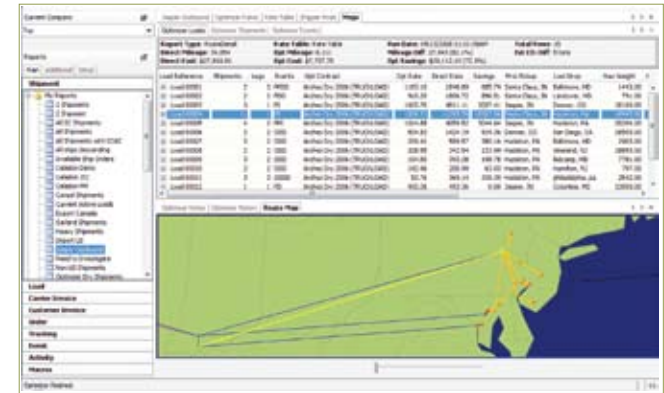

- Manage carrier connectivity.
- Oversee moves end-to-end; coordinate origin/carrier/destination; set appointments and dock scheduling.

Visibility and Event Management

- Provide connectivity with carriers.
- Alert events or lack of expected events.
- Maintain visibility portals for all stakeholders.

Freight Audit / Accounting & Payment

- Obtain carrier invoices; match items and identify unmatched loads.
- Audit invoices against customer load files and contract rates.
- Allocate costs to customer's GL codes; manage claims and produce cost and payment files.

enVista's Transportation Planning Solution

Reporting and Analysis

- Furnish extensive operational reporting.
- Offer ad hoc or scheduled report distribution and other analytic reporting.

Real Results

Through strategic expertise and state-of-the-art technology, enVista delivers reduced transportation expenses and increased supply chain visibility, not to mention greater efficiency in planning, execution, administration and management.

Direct Savings

- Reduction in transportation costs
- Order-level optimization
- Information and process support
- Avoidance of capital investments

Indirect Savings

- Improved supply chain visibility
- Reduced receiving labor
- Reduced purchasing due to uncertainty
- Improved carrier performance
- Improved data integrity and availability
- Added expertise to organization